Subject: Microsoft settlement

Notice that I am a long time AOL subscriber, and have been for many years. Right now, I can access lots of Microsoft stuff, like Internet explorer, whenever I want to because it came with Windows 98. All of the computer users that I know agree that we, as a group, would gain nothing, and lose much, if we could only have a stripped-down version of Windows. Please do NOT make a decision that only benefits Microsoft's competitors, and adversely impacts average computer users.
